Ahead of the opening of Expo 2025 Osaka, Kansai, Japan, the European Union (EU) will announce details about the EU Pavilion, the official uniform, and a series of events to be held during the Expo, including "Europe Day".

EU Pavilion: Step into the Future as Envisioned by the EU through Immersive

The EU Pavilion at Expo 2025 Osaka is designed with inspiration from the three principles of the "New European Bauhaus" – sustainability, aesthetics and inclusion. Immersive installations and digital activities, such as the "Zen Robot Installation" and "Talking Plants," are more than exhibitions, offering spaces for discovery, dialogue and interaction. These installations embody the theme of the EU Pavilion, "Nurturing Tomorrow". Visitors will have the opportunity to experience the EU's vision for the future as they explore the pavilion.

The Facade

Inspired by Japanese ema plaques and the precision of origami, the facade features rotating, petal-like modules made from sustainable bamboo, a material chosen for its durability, lightness, and environmental performance. These elements move naturally with the wind, mirroring the graceful motion of sakura blossoms and bringing the EU's theme, "Nurturing Tomorrow," to life.

By day, its lightweight structure plays with natural light and shadow, while at night, dynamic LED illumination enhances its vibrancy.

Talking Plants

Touch a digital plant to watch its virtual twin grow and reveal fascinating insights into EU initiatives on sustainable agriculture, food safety, and green alliances.

Green Cities

In the "Empowering People" space, visitors will learn about EU energy, agriculture and green cities:

- Ljubljana, Slovenia – European Green Capital Award 2016
- Vitoria-Gasteiz, Spain – European Green Capital Award 2012
- Lahti, Finland – European Green Capital Award 2021
- Grenoble, France – European Green Capital Award 2022
- Tallinn, Estonia – European Green Capital Award 2023
- Copenhagen, Denmark – European Green Capital Award 2014

The high-tech and futuristic space focuses on European science and technology, while the "Protecting Lives" space introduces visitors to the EU public health, humanitarian aid and environmental protection programmes.

The EU Pavilion at Expo 2025 Osaka is more than an exhibition – it is a space for discovery, dialogue, and interaction. Throughout their wanderings, visitors will have the opportunity to discover:

■ Comment by Jean-Eric Paquet, EU Commissioner-General and EU Ambassador to Japan

I eagerly await the opening of Expo 2025 Osaka, which brings people together from around the world to share knowledge, culture and experiences and to explore new possibilities for humankind. At the EU Pavilion, we will be showcasing Europe's commitment to sustainability, innovation and diversity, while engaging visitors in meaningful dialogues about how we can "nurture tomorrow". It is a great honour to be part of this historic event, and I hope many people will visit our Pavilion and gain greater understanding of the EU and its work.

Official EU Pavilion Uniform with Sustainability and Functionality

The design competition for the EU's official uniform at Expo 2025 Osaka took place in the autumn of 2024. Among the applicants, all of whom were fashion students from across the EU, Tomáš Maliňak from Slovakia was selected. Over the following months, Maliňak worked under the guidance of Kunihiro Morinaga, founder and designer of the renowned Japanese fashion brand "ANREALAGE," to enhance his design.

Inspired by the theme of the Expo, "Designing Future Society for Our Lives," and the EU's "Nurturing Tomorrow", Maliňak's design embodies the spirit of the EU and the guiding values of the New European Bauhaus. Maliňak's design is not only aesthetically beautiful and unmistakably European, but also sustainable and inclusive.

The official uniform is designed to ensure comfort for all, regardless of gender, body shape or colour palette. It consists of a button-down denim vest, a knitted polo shirt and high-waisted denim trousers, balancing both form and function. Advanced production technologies, such as pattern generation and 3D visualization, were employed alongside certified-sustainable fabrics. The uniform features 100% cotton, lightweight, breathable 3D-patterned fabric for comfortable wearing in all weather conditions while offering a flattering, relaxed silhouette for any body type. Maliňak's design is entirely produced in Europe. Honouring his Slovakian heritage and the fact that he is currently pursuing a degree in Prague, the uniforms are hand-sewn in Slovakia using fabric sourced from Czechia.

Upcoming EU events

A variety of exciting events will take place at the EU Pavilion throughout the Expo. Europe Day, which marks the anniversary of the EU's founding, is the most important occasion to honour peace, unity and the future of Europe. The events will centre around the EU's core values of unity, solidarity and diversity with cutting-edge performances that blend music, digital art and dance.
